DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 31, 2009 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed August 31, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant argues that Ries et al. does not disclose lead electrode array selectivity. However, when Ries et al. inserts the lead into the adaptor body there is registration with the teeth or key with a selected lead connector pad. In order for there to be selectivity, a lead connector must be selected. Due to the placement of the teeth or key, a lead connector pad is thus selected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-6, 8-10 and 12-13 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ries et al. (US 6,755,694 B2). Ries et al. include an implantable medical device with an upsizing lead adaptor that conforms to industry standards and has an inner lumen and a conductive ring (212 in figure 5) with teeth (214 in figure 5). The examiner considers the teeth to be the resilient key. Therefore, the key is dimensioned to be in registration with a selected one the lead connector pads at the time of insertion into the lumen of the adaptor body. Furthermore, Ries et el. does disclose lead electrode array selectivity since placement of the teeth or key to engage with the a lead connector pad thus provide selectivity. In addition, the adaptor includes interior sealing rings are depicted in figure 5 as 224 and 226.
